WASHINGTON—Railroad interests have good reason for being so jittery about Senator Burton K. Wheeler's impending chairmanship of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Their fears that he will give them plenty of heartaches are well-grounded.

The militant left-wing Montanan already is secretly at work on a breath-taker.

He is preparing a bill, to be introduced as soon as the new Senate gets down to business, providing for ownership of the railroads under a semi-government corporation similar to the TVA.

Wheeler is too realistic a politician to believe that the measure has a chance of passage at present. But he plans to hold thorough public hearings and start his agitation.

"Government ownership is inevitable," he says. "A number of the systems already are in hock to the Government through the RFC."

Senatorial Race Horse

Hiram Johnson, much-loved Senatorial war horse, has arrived from California straining for the Senate to get under way.

His trouble, according to Mrs. Johnson, is that he was nominated by all tickets, had no campaigning to do. She observes:

"You can't tie the legs of a race-horse and then bring him out to watch the others race. He goes crazy."

NOTE—On the day Johnson arrived here a telegram from the Secretary of State of California informed him that his total vote was 1,972,000—the biggest the state ever polled for one Senator.

Two Dates

1919: Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, submitted a report to President Woodrow Wilson recommending that a Government corporation be created to manufacture and sell to farmers fertilizer to be produced at Muscle Shoals.

1934: Newton D. Baker, counsel, with James M. Beek for Edison Electric Institute, bitter foe of New Deal water power policies, writes a "brief" declaring unconstitutional the Tennessee Valley Authority, a Government corporation empowered by Congress to sell Muscle Shoals power and fertilizer.

Conspicuous Anyway

Phil Ferguson, Congressional rookie from Oklahoma has decided not to grace the floor of the House with the blue jeans, tennison hat, and cowboy boots in which he campaigned through the ranch country of his home state.

His friends tell him he does not need the cowboy regalia to stand out from the crowd.

Thirty-three, a booming voice, a hearty manner, and a black moustache—with these qualities he can leave the tennison hat at home.

Though son of a Kansas millionaire, a member of Oklahoma's aristocracy, and owner of one of the largest ranches in the state, Phil was elected by the time-honored house-to-house, baby-kissing methods.

He enjoyed the distinction of being assigned in his campaign by the man whose seat he was striving for—E. W. Marland, successful candidate for Governor.

Canny Move

Wily Senator Charley McNary is back on the job quietly pulling wires behind the scenes.

Throughout Senator Bill Borah's recent uproar over house-cleaning the GOP high command, McNary said nothing. But while Borah was shouting, the Republican floor leader acted.

Without any blare of trumpets he appointed North Dakota's dashing insurgent Republican Gerald P. Nye as Chairman of the Republican Committee on Committees.

This body is a powerful party agency.

It decides committee assignments. And the chairman has a determining voice in the selections.

With Nye at its head, it is certain that the Progressives will get the pickings, the Tories the leavings.

The full significance of McNary's move is being discussed.

LAWYER SAYS LEGAL RIGHTS DENIED BRUNO

Fisher Declares Witnesses Have Been Refused Right To See Him

CURTIS WOULD TALK

Perpetrator of "Hoax" Wants to Appear

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Dec. 28.—Lloyd Fisher, counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, charged today that Hauptmann who goes on trial next week for the murder of the Lindbergh baby, was being denied legal rights by the state of New Jersey.

Fisher's allegation followed the refusal of Attorney General Wil-

entz to permit four defense witnesses to view the prisoner. Several state witnesses have viewed him in his cell in the Hunterdon county jail here and Fisher claims the same privilege.

CHARACTER WITNESSES

It is believed that the four witnesses barred by Wilentz are alibi witnesses who desire to reassure themselves that he is the man they saw in a Bronx cafe the night of the kidnapping.

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 28.—John Hughes Curtis, perpetrator of the famous "Lindbergh case hoax," has offered to appear as a state witness in the Hauptmann trial.

The Norfolk boat builder declined today to discuss with newspapermen the possible nature of his proposed testimony, but said the offer had been made to Attorney General David T. Wilentz, of New Jersey.

TO END FEELING

Curtis said the only qualification to his offer to testify was that he be given the opportunity to eradicate public ill feeling toward him caused by his part in the hoax.

3 INDICTED FOR MURDER

Insurance Plot Trial To Be Started Within Three Weeks.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Mrs. Anna Erickson, 38, and two youths indicted with her for the murder of her husband in an alleged plot to collect $2,500 life insurance today faced a speedy trial.

Prosecutor John S. Boyle, after a county grand jury returned true bills late yesterday naming the three, announced that the auburn-haired widow would be brought to trial within three weeks. Prosecutor Boyle said he was prepared to ask the death penalty for Mrs. Erickson.

James Senese, 19, who confessed that he shot the husband George F. Erickson, owner of a tavern at Chicago airport in ambush last Saturday morning appeared before the grand jury. Another witness was Elmer Krueger, 21, whom Senese said he had induced to aid him. Both youths were named in a true bill.

In confessing the murder Senese said, according to Prosecutor Boyle, he had carried it out at the urging of Mrs. Erickson on the promise of receiving $500 of the insurance money.

MALONE TAKEN TO INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Carl Malone, 17, who was arrested a week ago for possession of a knife and a revolver, was taken to the boys' industrial school at Lancaster, Thursday, by Juvenile Officer Frank Goff.

Malone, who was bound to the grand jury by Mayor W. B. Cady, was found to be a minor and was taken before Judge C. C. Young. The juvenile judge sentenced him to the industrial school.

O. S. U. ALUMNI MEETS TONIGHT

J. Lewis Morrill

Morrill, Speaker Started Interesting Career As Newspaper Man

J. Lewis Morrill, vice president of Ohio State university, will speak Friday night at the American Hotel Coffee shop at 6:30 o'clock at a dinner meeting of Ohio State alumni and students from Pickaway-co.

M. C. Warren, Pickaway-twp. superintendent, will preside.

A native of Marion, Mr. Morrill is an alumnus of Ohio State's school of journalism. Following his graduation he became a reporter with the Cleveland Press and later became city editor of that paper.

For a time he served as legislative correspondent for the Scripps-McRae league of newspapers.

From 1920 to 1928 he was alumni secretary at Ohio State and good work in that position won for him the presidency of the American Alumni Council.

In 1928 Mr. Morrill was appointed junior dean in the college of education, in which position he served as adviser for hundreds of students, helping them to solve problems of all kinds.

Morrill was made vice president of Ohio State university when that position was created three years ago to provide President George W. Rightmire with much needed assistance, especially in the field of public relations.

ACTIVE CIVICALLY

Ohio State's vice president is active in the work of the Columbus Rotary club, the Young Men's Business club, and other organizations. He is a member of the university's athletic board and is a director in the alumni association.

VIENNA, Dec. 28.—King Carol of Roumania and Mme. Magda Lupescu, titian-haired beauty for whom he once renounced his throne, are married, a well-informed and trustworthy Rumanian diplomat told International News Service today.

Marriage, as well as love, has kept the two together in recent years, despite attempts of many leading Rumanian politicians to oust Mme. Lupescu from the capital and bring about a return of Princess, Helen, former queen who divorced Carol in 1928, said the informant.

"Yes, King Carol and Mme. Lupescu are married," related the Rumanian diplomat, whose name, for obvious reasons, is withheld.

Speaker Urges Federal Grain, Cotton Control

Colonel E. P. Boyd, inspecting engineer of the United States postoffice department, was an interesting speaker at the meeting of the Rotary club Thursday. He related many personal experiences in connection with his work and his travels to foreign countries, and also touched on the depression and a program for business recovery.

"The government should have a monopoly on grain and cotton," said Col. Boyd. "This would be one of the surest ways to end the depression, and would be no different from the programs now in effect in many other countries where governments control their major crops," he further explained.

"Since there are no foreign markets of any importance, the people of the United States must be the largest consumers of

CLERGYMAN DIES AT 48

Rev. S. W. Hiles, Former Pastor Here and In Ashville, Passes Away.

Rev. S. W. Hiles, 48, former United Brethren pastor here and in Ashville, died Wednesday, evening in Cherrington hospital, Logan, less than two hours after he arrived there. Death was caused by a stroke.

With members of his family, Rev. Hiles had spent Christmas with his son, Edward, and family near Webb Summit. They were enroute to their home in Oak Hill when, a few miles south of Logan, Rev. Hiles complained of sharp pains in his head. He was taken to the hospital where he failed to rally.

Rev. Hiles was serving his first year in the pastorate at Oak Hill being assigned there at the recent meeting of the southeastern Ohio district held in this city. He served at Ashville until sent to Oak Hill and was pastor here until six years ago.

The minister had taught school in Hooking-co where he was a native until he entered the ministry 26 years ago. In addition to his churches in this county he served at Union Furnace, Bremen, Junction City, Crooksville, Mowrystown and Newark.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Estelle Hiles, and four children, Edward, Lila, Ethel and Warden.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Logan U. B. church with Dr. A. B. Cox, district superintendent, in charge. Rev. John A. Toy, Logan pastor, will assist.

RETAIL SALES SHOWING GAIN

1934 To Pass Previous Year By 15 or 20 Per Cent, Report Shows.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Boosted by Christmas sales estimated 25 to 40 per cent over 1933, retail sales in the nation for 1934 will top last year by 15 to 20 per cent when final returns are compiled, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. predicted in its weekly trade review today.

Even larger gains, running as high as 40 per cent, occurred in the south, southwest and some sections of the middle west, it was stated.

Reports in the last few days, the survey stated, confirmed estimates that Christmas retail trade this year was the best since 1929. The total was swelled by Monday's showing, which was heavier by 5 to 50 per cent than last Saturday, the usual peak of the pre-holiday buying rush. As a result, inventories of holiday goods are reported at the lowest level in years.

The survey took an optimistic view of next year's prospects and predicted large gains in industrial production "provided no hampering influences be forthcoming from congressional interference."

The Dun & Bradstreet business activity barometer scored its 10th consecutive gain, rising from 69.6 to 74.5 this week, the sharpest weekly upturn in many years.

U.S. TO SLASH FOUR MILLION FROM AID LIST

Great Burden to be Passed Back to States, City Governments

UP TO LEGISLATORS

Now 19 Millions Getting U. S. Aid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The first step in diminishing the federal government's gigantic relief load and passing part of it back to the states and municipalities was taken today with the announcement that approximately 4,000,000 persons are being dropped from the federal rolls.

These constitute so-called "unemployables," persons who either through age, infirmity or other causes, cannot be employed on federal projects.

The policy has been adopted that the federal government is going to continue relief-work on a huge scale, but that it is up to the states and municipalities to take care of their own aged and infirm who rate direct relief, or the dole.

ELIMINATE 4 MILLIONS

The elimination of nearly 4,000,000 persons from the federal rolls will reduce the government's present burden by about 20 per cent. February 1 has been set as the deadline for clearing the rolls of all incapables. It is estimated there are now approximately 19,000,000 persons on federal relief of one kind or another.

Simultaneously, the administration hopes to put through congress a federal-state old age pension law, and to persuade 44 state legislatures that meet early in the year to enact comparable legislation to take care of the indigent.

It is expected the legislation will be introduced early in the session meeting Thursday, and pushed to speedy enactment. Progress in the state legislatures is expected to be slower.

It is expected the legislation will be introduced early in the session meeting Thursday, and pushed to speedy enactment. Progress in the state legislatures is expected to be slower.

STATES DIRECT

In any event, the new policy means the federal government is going to take care of work relief, and the states and local communities will have to take care of direct relief.

CAPITAL GRADS MEET THURSDAY

Prof. William Bernlohr, director of athletics at Capital university, and Prof. Dell, of the English department at the university, were speakers at the annual banquet of the Pickaway-co chapter of Capital university alumni Thursday evening at Roof's restaurant.

Rev. E. H. Winterhoff, of Walnut-twp, acted as toastmaster following the dinner at 6:30 o'clock. Covers were laid for 32.

Recorded talks were heard by Prof. William Young of the English department at the university and Dr. Otto Mees, president of the university.

Two school songs were sung and contests in charge of Rev. Winterhoff were enjoyed.

Officers were elected for the ensuing year. Dr. G. J. Troutman was named president; Harold Hines of Walnut-twp, vice president; Miss Mabel Kern, Jackson-twp, secretary; and Harold Costlow, Atlanta, treasurer.

Can Halt Stuttering

By Having Stutterer Continue Stuttering

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Science has discovered that stuttering can be cured by inducing the patient to stutter.

This method has proved the basis of a definite cure in 60 per cent of his cases, Dr. Bryngelson, University of Minnesota speech clinic director, told the American society for the study of speech disorders.

The secret, he said, lies in the fact that the stutterer is placed on the offensive rather than on the defensive.

LEGIONNAIRES AT FAYETTE MEETING

Fifteen members of the Howard Hall post American Legion attended a meeting in Washington C. H. Thursday evening at which time John M. Brockie, Mt. Sterling publisher and a War veteran, discussed the bonus question and the best means to follow in presenting the question to congress.

A meeting is planned here at a later date with Brockie to be sought as the speaker.

WAGNER OUTLINES NEW DEAL GOALS

Senator Robert Wagner, above, of New York, outlines as New Deal goals, to be attained through permanent legislation: Regulation of minimum wages, shorter working hours, elimination of the sweat shop and of child labor, together with protection of honest business and of the rights alike of employers and employees; like-

MUNICH, Dec. 28.—Demands that the remnants of the Austrian Nazi legion in Germany be expelled increased today after two clashes between legionnaires and Bavarian residents, in which a Bavarian was killed and several injured on both sides.

More than a hundred Austrians engaged in a battle at Puert, where villagers shouted at an Austrian band: "Out with the Austrian parasites!"

The Austrians, chafing under inactivity after their hopes for overthrowing the Austrian government had been defeated by their dissolution by Chancellor Hitler, countered with cries of "Down with Hitler!" and the fight was on, with its one fatality.

Reinforcements of some two hundred Austrians rushed towards the scene from their camp at Bad Aibling, and a second engagement occurred at a railway station to which the exiles had retired.

SAYS COMMUNISTS GAIN IN SCHOOLS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Charging a pronounced rise of Communist sentiment exists among the youth, Rep. Hamilton Fish (R) of New York today characterized 10 leading American colleges as "hot-beds" of subversive activities.

He named Harvard, Vassar, City College of New York, Columbia, Smith, Wesleyan (Conn.), Chicago, Wisconsin, California and Washington University.

"The most pronounced activities of the Communists and the Socialists are among the younger generation," Fish declared. "This is particularly evident among the schools and colleges."

Many colleges and universities are honeycombed with Socialists and Communists, with the subversive movement noticeable in both men and women's colleges throughout the country, he claimed.

Huey Has Sixty-four Solons Behind Him

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Senator Huey "Kingfish" Long (D) of Louisiana will still have a front seat in the Senate.

Despite a rearrangement of the entire chamber to accommodate the many new Democrats, the "Boss" of Louisiana will be on the front row on the Democratic side.

Under the new arrangement, in which he keeps the same seat, he will have 64 Democratic senators behind him. He can choose the aisles or he can strut across the Senate floor in front of the rostrum.

YOUTHS GAIN $40 IN CRITES STATION THEFT

Hold Up, Rob Gorman Davis, Attendant, at 1:30 a. m. Friday

REVOLVER IS USED

Described As 25 and 21 Years of Age

The new N. Court-st station of the Crites Oil Co. was held up and robbed by two young outlaws at 1:30 a. m. Friday of $40 in change and bills. The robbers escaped in an automobile.

Gorman Davis, night operator, was on duty when the two men walked into the station. One asked for some tire patches and when Davis reached for the accessories the other ordered him to hold up his hands.

They took Davis' change carrier containing several dollars in silver and took all other money they could find. Ordering the attendant to keep his hands up until they got in their car, they fled.

ROBBERY BROADCAST

Police were notified and a report of the hold up and descriptions of the bandits were put on the radio of the state highway patrol, but to no avail.

Davis said he did not see the automobile the pair drove, nor did he know in which direction it left the scene. The car was believed parked back of the fence which surrounds the station.

The attendant described the pair as follows:

No. 1. Five feet seven inches tall, weight 145 pounds, age about 25. He was slender, wore a brown felt hat and a brown overcoat. He had a small mustache.

No. 2. Same height, about five pounds lighter and four years younger than No. 1. He was described as being slender, wearing a light cap and zipper jacket.

FIRST IN OVER MONTH

The robbery was the first attempted filling station robbery since the night Governor-elect Martin L. Davey spoke here prior to the election when Mrs. Milton Manson, Lancaster-pk, frightened robbers from the station operated by herself and her husband.

Edgar Lee Turner, 18, colored, was bound to the grand jury Friday by Mayor W. B. Cady for breaking and entering the Pickaway Livestock building and stealing cigars and candy on Dec. 3.

Turner was held under $600 bond.

Two other youths arrested with him were Hughie Montgomery, 17, and Charles Smith, 15, the latter being a ward of Fairfield-co juvenile court.

All three confessed, police said. The arrests were made by Officer William McCready.

BAKER HELD FOR HOCKING-CO JURY

Clarence Baker, arrested this week by Deputy Sheriff Bob Armstrong, was held for grand jury action in Hocking-co courts under $1,000 bond when he pleaded not guilty Wednesday to burglarizing the Pleukarp store, South Bloomington, Dec. 8.

Baker is charged with stealing considerable merchandise including some government property stored there for relief distribution. The jailed man gained entrance through a window which he replaced after committing the robbery.

KIWANIANS HEAR ROWLAND; INDUCT 5 NEW MEMBERS

A splendid talk on soy bean production with a number of interesting angles concerning operation of his plant was made before the Kiwanis club Thursday evening by Ray Rowland, manager of the Ralston Purina Milling Co. The meeting was at Hanley's tearoom.

Mr. Rowland's talk climaxed one of the best meetings the Kiwanis club has had in a long while.

Five new members attended and another, Elmer E. Clifton, was unable to be there because of illness. The new members are Joe Burns, Ben Gordon, George P. Bach, Dwight Steele and C. Edward Wright.

Several visitors including Fred White, of Columbus; Alvin Jones, of Chillicothe, and O. G. Henry, of Delaware, attended the meeting.

A turkey dinner preceded the business meeting.

NEW DEAL HIT BY SCIENTISTS IN ADDRESSES

Trend More Toward Fascism Than Communism, Ohio State Man Says.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—New Deal policies, assailed both by an eminent sociologist and a political scientist as "illogical and inconsistent," today were the objects of further study of sessions of the American Political Science association.

BALANCE BUDGET
The American Economic society meanwhile heard a warning by Prof. J. W. Angell of Columbia university that there can be no substantial business recovery in the United States until the government balances the federal budget and promised restoration of a stabilized gold standard currency.

There is a more pronounced tendency toward Fascism in America than toward Communism, said Prof. Shepard. The speaker advocated progressive centralization of government with the desirable elements of Fascism. As an unwanted phase of Fascism the educator cited "the case of Louisiana where the people have surrendered themselves completely to a political adventure."

"The program of the New Deal," Prof. Shepard said, "is a mass of undigested and contradictory experiments, its ideology is illogical, turbid and inconsistent. It veers first to the right, then to the left. It embodies in its personnel men of the most divergent views."

While the New Deal receives unprecedented majorities at the polls, Prof. Shepard said its support is not all enthusiastic and there is much criticism.
"If there is any leadership in the New Deal it is the leadership of mounting one's horse and dashing off in every direction at once."

OHIO COMMISSION TO RESIGN TODAY

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—The state office building commission, formed more than five years ago, completed its business Thursday and was expected to hand its resignation to Gov. George White today. A sum of $37,768 will be returned by the commission, unused. The task was completed under the estimated cost despite the blast at the building. Members of the commission are Col. Carmi Thompson, Cleveland; William F. Wiley, Cincinnati; William Green, Coshocton, and Elmer E. Landes, Wooster.

FIRE HITS STORE

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—The loss of stock at Bullock's women's apparel store, 112 S. High-st., is expected to run into several thousand dollars as the result of a three-alarm fire Thursday night. The flames apparently originated in the office in the rear of the store.

Two light-weight garments, such as a sweater and a coat, are warmer than one heavy coat. The air space between the two layers of garments prevent the body heat from passing through so quickly.

Questions and Answers

How should a fowl be carved? What are the things to remember in order to carve neatly?

The fowl should be placed with its back on the platter and with its neck to the carver's left. Insert the fork at the breast bone and hold firmly. Then cut through the skin separating the leg from the body. Pull back the leg with the knife and disjoint from the body. Lay the leg on the platter and separate the "drumstick" from the thigh. To cut off wing, cut down from the top to the joint that attaches it to the body, then insert the knife and cut through the joint.

Carve the breast meat in thin slices. To remove the dressing, make an opening below the breast bone. Serve a portion of the dark and the light meat to each person.

How can a little pig be prepared for roasting?

Suckling pig, no older than 6 weeks, may be roasted whole. Scald by plunging the animal in water just below the boiling point. Hold it in the water for about 1 minute. Remove, scrape off all hair with a dull knife, taking care not to cut the tender skin.

Begin at the bottom of the throat and cut a slit to the hind legs. It may be necessary to cut a little to each side, of the first slit at the throat, in order to avoid breaking the skin, at the sides or back. Remove a few organs. Wash animal in cold water and chill. Stuff with any preferred stuffing. Roast in a modern oven, 8 to 8 1/2 hours. If the skin is not crisp enough, roast, it may be rubbed with butter and returned to the oven for a few minutes. Place in the pig's mouth a red apple, an orange, or a baked sweet potato.

I please tell me how to clean some old pewter which I have. Silver polish does not seem to remove the dirt from it.

Because of the metals of which it is made, pewter is naturally soft and easily scratched. Whiting and oil, rottenstone and oil, or very fine steel wool and oil may be used with safety. Pewter is composed of tin and lead, and possibly some copper and bismuth.

How would you advise me to re-heat steamed puddings?

If your pudding is a large one, place it back into the original mold in which it was first steamed, and steam it again. It will take nearly an hour to have it heated thoroughly. Smaller puddings may be placed in the top of a double boiler and heated over hot water, or placed in a collander and steamed quickly in serving sized pieces.

Orange Cream Sherbet
1/2 C. sugar 4 Tbsp. orange rind
1/2 C. orange juice 4 Tbsp. gelatin

This is another of a series of clarifying articles on Ohio's new retail sales tax.

Q. In some other states the merchants absorb the sales tax themselves. Will this be done in Ohio?

A. No. It is expressly forbidden by law. This is a consumer's, not a merchant's tax.

Q. What would happen if the merchant absorbed it anyway?

A. He would render himself liable to a fine of $25 to $100 for the first offense. For each subsequent offense, he could be fined a like amount and be sent to the county jail for not more than 60 days. In case of a corporation, the penalty for a second offense is a fine of $100 to $500.

Q. Must all retail merchants be licensed to collect the sales tax when it becomes effective?

A. Yes. The penalty for selling at retail without such license is fixed in the sales tax Act as a misdemeanor, carrying a fine of $25 to $100.

Q. How soon after issuance of his vendor's license must a merchant purchase a supply of prepaid sales tax receipts?

A. Within five days.

PATTERN 9222

If you are looking for a colorful frock to wear beneath your winter coat—here is the very design for you! It would be charming in turquoise blue pebbly crepe—or in any bright monotone for that matter—with jeweled clips at the shoulder to add an air of luxury to its softly draped neckline. The bodice is prettily molded, and buttons straight up the back, according to the latest whim of Fashion. The slim skirt boasts a nice front panel which breaks into pleats above the hem—and the smooth raglan sleeves may be made in the fashionable three-quarter length or, if you prefer, short, as in the smaller sketch.

Pattern 9222 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3½ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

Do not miss our WINTER PATTERN BOOK of smart, easy-to-make clothes designed by our style authority, MARIAN MARTIN. Styles for every age and all occasions. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

THE TRAFFIC PROBLEM

TRAFFIC regulations and persistent abuses of parking privileges are topics of considerable comment in Circleville, and are matters of much interest and concern to every resident. Throughout the business section, particularly West Main-st., the privilege of double parking has become a menace to life and property. Officials have tolerated the practice in the hope that it would not be abused, but it has reached a point now where it should be curbed to a great extent.

Pleasure cars and commercial vehicles may be seen at almost any hour of the day or early evening parked on both sides of the street immediately behind cars parked at the curb, the drivers of which may be on a shopping tour or unloading freight consigned to one of the mercantile establishments. In many instances traffic is reduced to one lane for long periods of time, and drivers of cars parked at the curb are compelled to await the pleasure of the owners of the illegally-parked vehicles before they can move their cars.

This is a condition that should not be tolerated. It is a dangerous practice, absolutely unnecessary, and decidedly unfair to the motoring public. Through traffic should not be held up on the main streets of the city while the residents do their shopping, and the flow of local traffic should not be interrupted or impeded by those who violate the ordinary rules of common sense.

In addition to being an unnecessary traffic hazard, it would be disastrous in case of fire. The first few moments at a fire, in the opinion of fire-fighters, mean a great deal in saving property from destruction, and any unnecessary delay due to congested traffic may mean permitting a big fire to grow out of a little one, resulting in serious loss to property owners.

Motorists should need only a word of caution from traffic officials to realize the seriousness of the offense. They should be able to see that the practice is not fair to those who are abiding by proper traffic regulations, and unfair to the motoring public in general.

If a word of caution is insufficient, then a summons to police court and a substantial fine would certainly break up the practice.

The city has traffic ordinances that should be enforced as a measure of safety and protection to the general public.

THE "PLENTIEOUS" YEARS

FOR many years to come, no doubt, Americans whose memories are filled with the glowing picture of the Florida boom, the stock market boom and the real estate boom at home will look back upon the 1928-29 era as the brightest of our economic history.

What we now regard as the height of prosperity, however, was, in the opinion of studious economists, nothing more than a tragically ill-balanced financial situation. Dr. Mordecai Ezekiel, writing in the New York Times, shows us what a mockery was the vaunted affluence of those halcyon days.

It is true that the country was overrun with millionaires in those days, most of them as new as a dime fresh from the mint. But, according to Dr. Ezekiel, of the 22,000,000 city families in that year, 7,500,000 were on a "bare subsistence basis," with an income under $1,500. Another group of approximately that number was on "a minimum comfort level," having an average income of from $1,500 to $2,500.

These figures account for two-thirds of the population of the United States and they mean, when translated into unpleasant realities, that more than 7,000,000 families were engaged in a hard struggle for survival and that another 7,000,000 maintained decent standards of living only through strict economy.

Actual wealth and even comfortable circumstances were confined to less than a third of our population. What is to be said in behalf of our legendary standards of living and the storied prosperity of 1928-29 when a share in our riches is confined to a relatively few?

It's getting so that people who refuse to learn bridge are considered as anti-social.

Of course, in Methuselah's day there wasn't a car in every garage, which helps to explain the prevalent longevity.

An economist says Uncle Sam must eventually take over the banks because they owe him so much. European papers please copy.

Many talented blues singers have been discovered among Sing Sing's inmates and the authorities must beware of turning them loose on society.

The Secretary of War wants money to build houses for the Army to live in. The sissies. What's become of the soldiers who were satisfied to live in a pup tent?

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Dr. A. L. Stump, Derby, named county health commissioner. Miss Helen Bartholomew appointed district nurse.

Circleville high school lost to Chillicothe 29-19 in a fast basketball game. The local lineup included White, Nickerson, Russell, Davis, Clark and Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. William Briggs celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with a dinner at their home in New Holland.

20 YEARS AGO

Farmers near Kingston organized to hunt a gray wolf reported to have killed a number of head of stock in that vicinity. The animal had been seen on the Seip

Fielding H. Yost on the second all-Michigan football team.

Mayor E. C. Friece and Safety Director H. E. Weill made a trip to Akron and Youngstown to inspect motor hire wagons with a view of purchasing a similar outfit for Circleville. Attorney George W. Lindsay was sworn in as acting mayor.

25 YEARS AGO

Ice harvest is on throughout Pickaway-co. The ice was six and a half inches in thickness and of fine quality.

Robert Brehmer, manager of the Central Union Telephone company, entertained employees of the company to an oyster supper and Christmas party.

Ten miles of double tracking on the N. & W. railroad between Hallsville and Delano put into service, leaving about 10 miles unfinished between Chillicothe and

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 2

"OH, LORD, say it isn't so, lady," Leila murmured to Jane. But the letter went on saying just what it had.

"Dear Leila—" (said the letter in a spiky handwriting upon the horribly expensive paper Bet had bought last time she needed her teeth done.)

"Jumping off the deep end at 19, old girl. Oh out into the great, exciting world, with my man! And am I having a thrill? I've tried everything and seen everything as far as cash and your and Aunt Minnie's narrow ideas permitted. I will say, for my years. Now the great last thing! He hasn't been spoiled by the narrow class-education of college and snobbish prep schools; his has been the school of life. You know how the ordinary damn-fool men of our own dull caste have bored me . . ."

Leila knew all about that. Bet's dramatic gestures, or it may have been her passion for talking about herself, or her determined untidiness, scared of the boys of her own age thoroughly, terrified of the queer and unusual as they naturally were. It was Aunt Minnie's chief worry that Bet wasn't attractive to gentlemen. And Bet simply had to be admired, had to be making a sensation. But up to now, or up to the fact, a few months, rather, this particular problem hadn't come up. Everything else had, goodness knew!

She went back to the deciphering of the picket fence hand.

"You know I made up my mind some time since that the only type worth considering was the splendid one that does the real work of the world. The artisan, the mechanic. The decent, unspoiled, sound, fine man who works with his hands . . . the only kind left not a rotter . . ."

Now where had that come from? Even in her worry over the immediate problem Leila took time to recall that Bet never got anything up for herself. Leila could always track it back to something or other Bet had read, or some picture. . . Oh, yes. That story Bet had thrilled over in one of the weeklies, something about a dazzlingly beautiful and fascinating society girl who found that all the men and girls she had been brought up with cheated at cards and embezzled, and made a magnificent policeman (who didn't seem to like her at all) marry her practically at the pistol's point with the blessing and gratitude of her weeping millionaire father. . . And hadn't there been an article, also, on babies till it went into the wastebasket. "Why Debs Marry Cowboys?" There had, by a debutante who had done it herself or hoped to.

So that was why Bet had been making so many errands to the gas station lately. The tall young Pole who was rather good-looking if he didn't mind a plump forehead and a habit of yawning when you tipped him. . . Good heavens, could it be he? Or by any chance the Italian shoemaker who had recently taken the little shop between the stationer's and the drug store in the village? He was, though rather plump, quite incredibly handsome, like a Bacchus had a fond and assured way of paying compliments to everybody who had shoes shined there, which had made Leila decide to go with unpollished brogues rather than go near him again. Oh, dear! . . . Well, it wasn't either of them, or Bet wouldn't be taking off from the studio she shared with Edna Berry. She read on, frowning over the illegible hand. Was the word cassette or carpenter? It must be a carpenter, you couldn't very well marry a casseterole.

Leila forced herself to go on.

"The man with whom I am achieving the great adventure is a carpenter. . ."

Well, Aunt Minnie would have a fit and Fernwood Manor, that most exclusive and social suburb, would be shocked, but after all if Bet did marry a nice decent carpenter who would be firm with her it wouldn't be bad a bit. Carpenters always were nice, and electricians. Much as Leila loved her sister, at that moment she was nearly ready to make a present of her to any firm carpenter. . .

"We're getting married, as I said—that is, in a way. . ."

Leila stood up straight. Then she forced herself to go on. "Think of us at two o'clock—adventured excitement, love-out in the great world together! Goodby, Leila, I wish you all the happiness in the old narrow life. Break the news to auntie and the dogs. Love always—BET."

Leila rose and dropped Jane. This wasn't humorous or even annoying. "My heaven, was I that much of a fool at 19?" she demanded of her dog in a voice which sent it down on a wriggling belly in remorse for a supposed crime.

Leila had never been that much of a fool. She had never, at the appropriate moments for it, had time. She had always, instead, been occupied being a protective older sister to a junior who had gone jazz-age with the greater abandon because she unfortunately wasn't interesting to men. And she was still jazz-aging, still being temperamental and thrill-hunting, in spite of the fact that her contemporaries were either going earnest or saying in low tragic tones, "They taught us too much. Now we merely drift!" As a matter of fact Bet would, Leila believed, never cease to thrill and have temperance. Whether it was fashionable or not, Bet would be wild, scornful, and thrill-hunting at 60, and Leila at 63 would be dragging her out of the messes her search brought down on her.

Leila remembered the high spots of the preceding messes all too well. The 13-year-old crush on the milkman's under-voiced boy. The time when Bet read the article about girl hitch-hikers and became one immediately at it, as far as Schenectady, where she was retrieved by a terrified 17-year-old Leila and a dantless Aunt Minnie with a heart attack. The train for Hollywood last year, at the moment when the movies were at the financial bottom. Their time she telegraphed (charges reversed) for fare home after a fortnight's overnight.

A passion, in short, for adventure which might have been admirable if it had been balanced by sense and bravery, but which, Bet being as she was, had turned Leila overwatchful, and Aunt Minnie nearly into a nervous wreck. This last business of sharing a studio with another girl who was a miniature painter, and giving depression parties, had seemed the safest outlet for years. And now!

Future for Young Diabetic Good if Rules Are Followed

Most of Those Afflicted Are Bright and Overcome Handicap Very Quickly

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

PARENTS ARE decidedly upset when told their child is afflicted with diabetes. But today, fortunately, the outlook for a child suffering from diabetes is much more favorable than it was in former years. This can be attributed to our increased knowledge of diabetes and the discovery of insulin.

Many children suffer from diabetes. Few of them succumb because of the improved methods of treatment. A diabetic child who adheres to a rigid diet and carefully follows instructions, will develop equally as well, both physically and mentally. Most diabetic children are bright and learn quickly. This is fortunate because the problems confronting a child with this disease are more difficult than those of the normal child.

The diabetic child is usually taller and heavier than the average boy or girl. Because of the apparently favorable state of health, months or even years may pass before the parent becomes aware that the child is diabetic.

As a rule the diabetic drinks an unusual amount of water and visits the bathroom frequently. The children have excellent appetites but fail to gain weight.

An excessive accumulation of sugar in the blood soon leads to irritability, nervousness and a susceptibility to infections and the common diseases of childhood. Continued neglect may lead to coma, cataract formation, hardening of the arteries and practically all the complications of diabetes encountered in the adult. When the disease is recognized and the necessary treatment given, these annoying complaints, unless too far advanced, promptly disappear. Sometimes the presence of sugar in the urine is the direct result of having an excess of sugar and fat in the diet. In such cases a carefully prescribed diet may be sufficient to overcome the disturbance and completely rid the urine of sugar.

Not all cases respond to diet alone. In many instances it is necessary that the child receive injections of insulin. The first few treatments are given under the supervision of a physician, but after that the parent may be permitted to inject the insulin. Indeed, many young children have been taught to do this themselves.

It is generally considered, but not definitely proved, that heredity is an important influence in diabetes. A recent study of statistics shows that when two diabetics marry, diabetes often develops in the offspring. For this reason it is imperative that parents of diabetic children be on the alert for signs of this disease in their children. Periodic health examinations and routine urinalysis will help detect this disorder. It must never be overlooked or neglected.

A child who shows signs of under-nourishment, repeated loss of weight and lack of development, should be taken to a physician for a thorough physical examination. No examination is complete unless the urine is examined for sugar and other abnormalities. In doubtful cases a test should be made of the blood.

Questions and Answers

What temperature range is considered to be a "moderate" oven? Many of my recipes say "bake in a moderate oven."

A moderate oven is usually considered to be 350 degrees, but from 325 to 375 might be termed the interval described as moderate.

Can you suggest some uses for frozen whipped cream? I have an automatic refrigerator and enjoy using frozen desserts, but the chilled foods are not so popular when it is so cold outdoors.

One of the most fancy ways to use frozen whipped cream is to serve it very much like it were a hard sauce—on hot desserts. Apple betty, peach cobbler, steamed puddings, fruit pies, plum puddings and rich winter puddings are made more tasty with a small portion of frozen whipped cream, or mousse, for a topping. A garnish for hot chocolate or for home-made sundaes is particularly nice, if the garnish is frozen whipped cream.

What is a plank and how should it be used?

A cooking plank is a heavy oak board, usually 1 1/2 or 2 inches thick, used for broiling steaks, chops, A plank steak is a great delicacy. The steak may be broiled on the plank or in the broiler until done, or it may be started on the broiler pan and finished on the wooden plank. When the steak has finished broiling, the plank is decorated with cooked vegetables arranged around it and with mashed potatoes forced through a pastry tube. The mashed potatoes may be formed into cups filled with creamed or buttered peas.

How can I prevent French dressing from separating?

French dressing is made with a large quantity of oil which will not thoroughly mix with the vinegar and seasonings, thus between time of serving the dressing may separate. A good suggestion is to keep the dressing in a screw top jar and give it a thorough shaking each time before using.

What raw vegetables can be used in a molded gelatin salad?

Raw vegetables for molded salads must include some of these: diced carrot, chopped cabbage, chopped celery, chopped pepper, radishes or cucumbers in season. For garnishes, hard cooked egg, tomato wedges, parsley or cheese balls are suitable and may be used.

Flour to make a soft dough

Allow sugar to dissolve completely in sour cream. Add salt, baking soda, and flour enough to make a soft cookie dough. Use a cookie mold to press the cookies. Greased paper on a flat tray. Small amount of water or flour may be added to the dough as required to make it soft enough to press easily and yet stiff enough to hold its shape. A variation of a single batch would be to add a tablespoonful of melted chocolate to one portion of the dough, and so cinnamon to another portion. Bake cookies for 10 minutes at 450 degrees. Prick the oven before putting the cookies in, so they will not lose their shape.

Schmidt Stands High in Past Year

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—A bigger and better sports parade for Ohio in 1935 was promised today as the outstanding athletic events in 1934 were reviewed in a statewide survey by International News Service.

Crystal gazers into the future professed to see a new minor league baseball loop for the state; a new, national professional football league club; the possibility of high schools going in for boxing in a big way; expansion of the Buckeye conference in collegiate sports; and (fifth but not least) a Big Ten football crown for Ohio State University.

Probably the greatest, single athletic event in the state during the year ending Monday from the point of attendance and that elusive mirage called color was the Ohio State-Michigan football game (attendance 68,000).

SCHMIDT IN FRONT

And because his was the guiding genius behind Ohio State's nearly excellent performance on the gridiron, Francis Schmidt, head football coach at the school and a new-comer to the Ohio sports world, probably was the most outstanding figure to emerge from the 1934 pileup.

Other highlights of the '34 sports review follow:

Winning of the American Association pennant and the little world series by the Columbus Red Birds for the second, consecutive year; winning of the middle-Atlantic league pennant by the Zanesville Greys; the change of controlling interest and managers of the Cincinnati Reds in the national league; the Canton-McKinnley high school football game (attendance 20,000) winning of the Class B basketball champion of high schools by the then unknown Waterloo team and annexation of the Class A title by Dayton Roosevelt, (attendance in the three days 17,000).

Sports promoters and figures were optimistic to the nth degree over 1935 prospects. Some of their remarks follow:

George Daniels, commissioner of the Ohio conference, "I'm very optimistic over 1935 as football is growing in popularity and gate receipts promise to be much better."

George Trautman, president of the Columbus Red Birds, "The outlook for 1935 is very encouraging. We're going to try to assemble another pennant winning team."

Joe Carr, football and baseball promoter—"The outlook for national professional football is great. It's splendid. The same is true for minor league baseball. Did you know that Ohio was the greatest state in the union for minor league baseball?"

Al Haft, wrestling promoter—"We'll have a boom year. The entrance of college boys into the ranks of professional wrestlers and the fact that promoters themselves have cleaned up the sport helped more than anything."

Coach Schmidt, of Ohio State, could not be reached for a comment on the chances of the Scarlet and Gray for '35. However, paradoxically, they, at the worst, were good.

LONDON TEAM WILL PROVIDE TIGERS SCRAP

Preliminary Starts at 7:30 in C. A. C. Gymnasium; Varsity at 8:30.

The time: 7:30 p. m.
The scene: C. A. C. gymnasium.
The teams: High school reserves vs. Emory club in the preliminary and the high school varsity vs. London in the final game starting about 8:30.

The referee: Ervin Carlisle, of Ohio Wesleyan.
The outcome: Doubtful.
The lineup:

CIRCLEVILLE
Kirwin ..... F .....
Henry ..... F .....
Grant ..... C .....
Speakman ..... G .....
Jenkins ..... G .....
LONDON
Alexander ..... F .....
Robinson ..... F .....
Meadows ..... C .....
Holloway ..... G .....
Peterson ..... G .....

LINEUP IS GUESS
The Tiger lineup is just a guess. The five boys named have started regularly for Coach Pete Herberholz but the three defeats taken in succession might change things. It was reported today that Stiers may be placed at a forward berth with Joe Jenkins taking the center spot. Both could turn in good performances.

London will place a fast team on the floor with Coach Von Kane's crew making a good appearance in all games played to date. The Tigers have a good chance to win, though, with all member of the squad in good condition.

The reserve game should draw a large early crowd. The Tiger underlings have won all four games played this year but will be pitted against several former varsity performers as Billy Steele, Bob Price and John Porter. They play forward, center and guard, respectively, for Cuz Dumm's Emory aggregation.

Plum, Griffith, Melson, Friley and Andrews will probably form the Tiger reserve first team, these boys clicking together in nice shape.

A good crowd is expected to fill the C. A. C. gymnasium.

Saturday evening the Tigers go to Amanda to meet the varsity of that school. The reserves will not play there, taking a vacation.

Pounds of firm flesh instead of bare scraggy bones! New vigor, vim and energy instead of tired listlessness! Steady, quiet nerves! That is what thousands of people are getting through scientists' latest discovery—the Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil concentrated in little sugar coated tablets without any of its horrid, fishy taste or smell.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, they're called "Cod Liver Oil in Tablets," and they're work wonders. A little boy of 3, seriously sick, got well and gained 10 lbs. in just one month. A girl of thirteen after the same disease, gained 5 lbs. the first week and 2 lbs. each week after. A young mother who could not rest or sleep after baby came got all her health back and gained 10 lbs. in less than a month.

You simply must try McCoy's at once. Remember if you don't gain least 2 lbs. of firm, healthy flesh in a month get your money back. Demand and get McCoy's—the official and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Refuse all substitutes—there are none better.

SPYING on SPORTS

By BILL BRAUCHER

Central Press Sports Writer
The greatest field of thorough-bred ever to face a barrier is being prepared for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap Feb. 23 at Arden, Cal. If they all go to the post—including Equipoise, Twenty Grand, Cavalcade, Discovery, Head Play—the result is sure to be historic, not to say tough on the guessers.

Some of the horses themselves, interviewed about the race, might say something like this:

EQUIPOISE—Twenty Grand? Don't talk to me about that horse. Why doesn't he go out and earn himself some money? I've won $334,450 worth of races on all kinds of tracks, and I'll win this one, Twenty Grand or no Twenty Grand.

Twenty Grand was lucky when he beat me in that Kentucky Jockey Club stakes back in 1930 when we were two-year-olds. The judges gave it to him by a nose. He had to win the mile in 1:36, any way, to win it, and that's the fastest mile a two-year-old ever ran. I was going fastest when we passed the stand. Look it up.

TWENTY GRAND—Sure I have beaten Equipoise and I can do it again. If he had run in the Derby he'd have taken some more of old Twenty's dust. That was the year I set the Derby record—2:01 4-5. Of course he's a good horse—he had to be to win all that money, but I've beaten him.

HEAD PLAY—I do hope I have a little better break than I got in the Derby. You remember, as we were coming down the stretch my jockey was fighting with Broker's Tip's boy? That's why it's down in the records that Eradley's horse beat me. I was the goat. I hope I have a better rider in the handicap. Have you read what some of the experts said after that 1933 Derby, about me being the best horse, but the victim of a bad ride? Let me show you my scrapbook some time.

CAVALCADE—Who are these old horses shooting off their mouths? I won the 1934 Kentucky Derby after giving the whole field a half block head start. Sure, High Quest beat me in the Preknex, but High Quest is my stablemate and pal. That was all arranged, for him to win, so he'd have something on his record, too.

And while we're on the subject of money, I've earned a few dollars here and there myself. Made $111,235 in 1934. Yep, leading winner.

They say these old horses can run pretty well, but they'll have to show me.

VINING-CAMPBELL LEADING BOWLERS

The doubles team of Lou Vining and Charles Campbell continues to lead sweepstakes bowlers on the local runways. Vining and Campbell combined their scores for 1209. The individual scores were Vining, 222, 211, 188 and Campbell, 182, 226, 180.

Lancaster bowlers made an onslaught Thursday evening but failed to dislodge the leaders. Simon and Lunzer rolled 1181 and C. White and Bruner, 1179. A. Elsea and Baker of the local alleys kegged 1171.

In class B, Mrs. Baker and Bob Campbell hold an 1104 score.

Container Corporation bowlers tangled Thursday evening with the Papermakers taking two from the Office and Power winning three from the Maintainers.

Nearly 400 persons took part in the fox drive in Pickaway-twp Thursday, the attendance being marred considerably by the frigid air. Two foxes were clubbed to death while four escaped through the lines.

It is planned to hold another drive probably New Year's day but nothing definite has yet been announced.

Thursday's drive was staged under the auspices of the Logan Elm range and the Pickaway-twp Parent-Teachers association. The greater part of $36 was cleared to aid the latter organization's relief fund.

BOUGHT BY WOMEN
The foxes were killed by James Mowery and a Wolford boy and both were purchased by Mrs. Cliff Miller and Miss Alva Bartley. A large number of foxes were seen at some of the drivers said if the crowd had been large enough 10 or 12 of the animals which have been playing havoc with small game in Pickaway-twp might have been caught.

SHOOTING MATCH

Wheeler Prepares Bill For Railroad Ownership Plan Similar to TVA

WASHINGTON—Railroad interests have good reason for being so jittery about Senator Burton K. Wheeler's impending chairmanship of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Their fears that he will give them plenty of heartaches are well-grounded.

The militant left-wing Montanan already is secretly at work on a breath-taker.

He is preparing a bill, to be introduced as soon as the new Senate gets down to business, providing for ownership of the railroads under a semi-government corporation similar to the TVA.

Wheeler is too realistic a politician to believe that the measure has a chance of passage at present. But he plans to hold thorough public hearings and start his agitation.

"Government ownership is inevitable," he says. "A number of the systems already are in hock to the Government through the RFC."

Senatorial Race Horse

Walter Johnson, much-loved Senator from Maryland, has arrived from California training for the Senate to get under way.

His trouble, according to Mrs. Johnson, is that he was nominated by all tickets, had no campaigning to do. She observed:

"You can't tie the legs of a race-horse and then bring him out to watch the others race. He goes crazy."

NOTE—On the day Johnson arrived here a telegram from the Secretary of State of California informed him that his total vote was 1,872,000—the biggest the state ever polled for one Senator.

Two Dates

1919: Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, submitted a report to President Woodrow Wilson recommending that a Government corporation be created to manufacture and sell to farmers fertilizer to be produced at Muscle Shoals.

1934: Newton D. Baker, counsel (with James M. Beek) for Edison Electric Institute, bitter foe of New Deal water power policies, writes a "brief" to the Tennessee Valley Authority, a Government corporation empowered by Congress to sell Muscle Shoals power and fertilizer.

Conspicuous Anyway

Phil Ferguson, Congressional rookie from Oklahoma has decided not to grace the floor of the House with the blue jeans, ten-gallon hat, and cowboy boots in which he campaigned through the ranch country of his home state.

His friends tell him he does not need the cowboy regalia to stand out from the crowd.

Thirty-five years old, six feet three, a booming voice, a hearty manner, and a black moustache—with these qualities he can leave the ten-gallon hat at home.

Though son of a Kansas millionaire, a member of Oklahoma's aristocracy, and owner of one of the largest ranches in the state, Phil was elected by the time-honored house-to-house, baby-kissing methods.

He enjoyed the distinction of being assisted in his campaign by the man whose seat he was striving for—E. W. Marland, successful candidate for Governor.

Canny Move

Wily Senator Charley McNary is back on the job quietly pulling wires behind the scenes.

Throughout Senator Bill Borah's recent uproar over house-cleaning the GOP high command, McNary said nothing. But while Borah was shouting, the Republican floor leader acted.

Without any blare of trumpets he appointed North Dakota's dashing insurance Republican Gerald P. Nye as Chairman of the Republican Committee on Committees.

This body is a powerful party agency.

It decides committee assignments. And the chairman has a determining voice in the selections.

With Nye at its head, it is certain that the Progressives will get the pickings, the Tories the leavings.

The full significance of McNary's move is being discussed.

LAWYER SAYS LEGAL RIGHTS DENIED BRUNO

Fisher Declares Witnesses Have Been Refused Right To See Him

CURTIS WOULD TALK

Perpetrator of "Hoax" Wants to Appear

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Dec. 28—Lloyd Fisher, counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, charged today that Hauptmann goes on trial next week for the murder of the Lindbergh baby, was being denied legal rights by the state of New Jersey.

Fisher's allegation followed the refusal of Attorney General Wil-

entz to permit four defense witnesses to view the prisoner. Several state witnesses have viewed him in his cell in the Hunterdon county jail here and Fisher claims the same privilege.

CHARACTER WITNESSES

It is believed that the four witnesses barred by Wilentz are alibi witnesses who desire to reassure themselves that he is the man they saw in a Bronx cafe the night of the kidnapping.

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 28—John Hughes Curtis, perpetrator of the famous "Lindbergh case" hoax, has offered to appear as a state witness in the Hauptmann trial.

The Norfolk boat builder declined today to discuss with newsmen the possible nature of his proposed testimony, but said the offer had been made to Attorney General David T. Wilentz, of New Jersey.

TO END FEELING

Curtis said the only qualification to his offer to testify was that he be given the opportunity to eradicate public ill feeling toward him caused by his part in the hoax.

3 INDICTED FOR MURDER

Insurance Plot Trial To Be Started Within Three Weeks.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28—Mrs. Anna Erickson, 38, and two youths indicted with her for the murder of her husband in an alleged plot to collect $2,500 life insurance today faced a speedy trial.

Prosecutor John S. Boyle, after a county grand jury returned true bills late yesterday naming the three, announced that the auburn-haired widow would be brought to trial within three weeks. Prosecutor Boyle said he was prepared to ask the death penalty for Mrs. Erickson.

James Senese, 19, who confessed that he shot the husband of George F. Erickson, owner of a tavern at Chicago airport in ambush last Saturday morning, appeared before the grand jury. Another witness was Elmer Krueger, 21, whom Senese said he had induced to aid him. Both youths were named in a true bill.

In confessing the murder Senese said, according to Prosecutor Boyle, he had carried it out at the urging of Mrs. Erickson on the promise of receiving $500 of the insurance money.

MALONE TAKEN TO INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Carl Malone, 17, who was arrested a week ago for possession of a knife and a revolver, was taken to the boys' industrial school at Lancaster, Thursday, by Juvenile Officer Frank Goff.

Malone, who was bound to the grand jury by Mayor W. B. Cady, was found to be a minor and was taken before Judge C. C. Young. The juvenile judge sentenced him to the industrial school.

O. S. U. ALUMNI MEETS TONIGHT

J. Lewis Morrill

Morrill, Speaker Started Interesting Career As Newspaper Man

J. Lewis Morrill, vice president of Ohio State university, will speak Friday night at the American Hotel Coffee shop at 6:30 o'clock at a dinner meeting of Ohio State alumni and students from Pickaway-co.

M. C. Warren, Pickaway-twp. superintendent, will preside.

A native of Marion, Mr. Morrill is an alumnus of Ohio State's school of journalism. Following his graduation he became a reporter with the Cleveland Press and later became city editor of that paper. For a time he served as legislative correspondent for the Scripps-McRae league of newspapers.

WAS ALUMNI SECRETARY

From 1920 to 1928 he was alumni secretary at Ohio State and good work in that position won for him the presidency of the American Alumni Council.

In 1928 Mr. Morrill was appointed junior dean in the college of education, in which position he served as adviser for hundreds of students, helping them to solve problems of all kinds.

Morrill was made vice president of Ohio State university when that position was created three years ago to provide President George W. Rightmire with much needed assistance, especially in the field of public relations.

ACTIVE CIVILICALLY

Ohio State's vice president is active in the work of the Columbus Rotary club, the Young Men's Business club, and other organizations. He is a member of the university's athletic board and is a director in the alumni association.

CAROL, LUPESCO WED, IS REPORT

(Copyrighted, 1934, by International News Service)

VIENNA, Dec. 28—King Carol of Roumania and Mme. Magda Lupescu, tiff-haired beauty for whom he once renounced his throne, are married, a well-informed and trustworthy Rumanian diplomat told International News Service today.

Marriage, as well as love, has kept the two together in recent years, despite attempts of many leading Rumanian politicians to oust Mme. Lupescu from the capital and bring about a return of Princess, Helen, former queen who divorced Carol in 1928, said the informant.

"Yes, King Carol and Mme. Lupescu are married," related the Rumanian diplomat, whose name, for obvious reasons, is withheld.

Speaker Urges Federal Grain, Cotton Control

Colonel E. P. Boyd, inspecting engineer of the United States postoffice department, was an interesting speaker at the meeting of the Rotary club Thursday. He related many personal experiences in connection with his work and his travels to foreign countries, and also touched on the depression and a program for business recovery.

"The government should have a monopoly on grain and cotton," said Col. Boyd. "This would be one of the surest ways to end the depression, and would be no different in many other countries where governments control their major crops," he further explained.

"Since there are no foreign markets of any importance, the people of the United States must be the largest consumers of

CLERGYMAN DIES AT 48

Rev. S. W. Hiles, Former Pastor Here and in Ashville, Passes Away.

Rev. S. W. Hiles, 48, former United Brethren pastor here and in Ashville, died Wednesday evening in Cherrington hospital, Logan, less than two hours after he arrived there. Death was caused by a stroke.

With members of his family, Rev. Hiles had spent Christmas with his son, Edward, and family near Webb Summit. They were en route to their home in Oak Hill when, a few miles south of Logan, Rev. Hiles complained of sharp pains in his head. He was taken to the hospital where he failed to rally.

Rev. Hiles was serving his first year in the pastorate at Oak Hill being assigned there at the recent meeting of the southeastern Ohio district held in this city. He served at Ashville until sent to Oak Hill and was pastor here until six years ago.

The minister had taught school in Hocking-co where he was a native until he entered the ministry 26 years ago. In addition to his churches in this county he served at Union Furnace, Bremen, Junction City, Crooksville, Mowrystown and Newark.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Estelle Hiles and four children, Edward, Lila, Ethel and Warden.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Logan U. B. church with Dr. A. B. Cox, district superintendent, in charge. Rev. John A. Toy, Logan pastor, will assist.

RETAIL SALES SHOWING GAIN

1934 To Pass Previous Year By 15 or 20 Per Cent, Report Shows.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Boosted by Christmas sales estimated 25 to 40 per cent over 1933, retail sales in the nation for 1934 will last year by 15 to 20 per cent when final returns are compiled, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., predicted in its weekly trade review today.

Even larger gains, running as high as 40 per cent, occurred in the south, southwest and some sections of the middle west, it was stated.

Reports in the last few days, the survey stated, confirmed estimates that Christmas retail trade this year was the best since 1929. The total was swelled by Monday's showing, which was heavier by 5 to 50 per cent than last Saturday, the usual peak of the pre-holiday buying rush. As a result, inventories of holiday goods are reported at the lowest level in years.

The survey took an optimistic view of next year's prospects and predicted large gains in industrial production "provided no hampering influences be forthcoming from congressional interference."

The Dun & Bradstreet business activity barometer scored its 10th consecutive gain, rising from 69.6 to 74.5 this week, the sharpest weekly upturn in many years.

U. S. TO SLASH FOUR MILLION FROM AID LIST

Great Burden to be Passed Back to States, City Governments

UP TO LEGISLATORS

Now 19 Millions Getting U. S. Aid

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The first step in diminishing the federal government's gigantic relief load and passing part of it back to the states and municipalities was taken today with the announcement that approximately 4,000,000 persons are being dropped from the federal rolls.

These constitute so-called "unemployables," persons who either through age, infirmity or other causes, cannot be employed on federal projects.

The policy has been adopted that the federal government is going to continue relief-work on a huge scale, but that it is up to the states and municipalities to take care of their own aged and infirm who rate direct relief, or the dole.

ELIMINATE 4 MILLIONS

The elimination of nearly 4,000,000 persons from the federal rolls will reduce the government's present burden by about 20 per cent. February 1 has been set as the deadline for clearing the rolls of the incapable. It is estimated there are now approximately 19,000,000 persons on federal relief of one kind or another.

Simultaneously, the administration hopes to put through congress a federal-state old age pension law, and to persuade 44 state legislatures that meet early in the year to enact comparable legislation to take care of the indigent.

It is expected the legislation will be introduced early in the session meeting Thursday, and pushed to speedy enactment. Progress in the state legislatures is expected to be slower.

It is expected the legislation will be introduced early in the session meeting Thursday, and pushed to speedy enactment. Progress in the state legislatures is expected to be slower.

STATES DIRECT

In any event, the new policy means the federal government is going to take care of work relief, and the states and local communities will have to take care of direct relief.

CAPITAL GRADS MEET THURSDAY

Prof. William Bernlohr, director of athletics at Capital university, and Prof. Deane of the English department at the university, were speakers at the annual banquet of the Pickaway-co chapter of Capital university alumni Thursday evening at Roof's restaurant.

Rev. E. H. E. Winterhoff, of Walnut-twp., acted as toastmaster following the dinner at 6:30 o'clock. Covers were laid for 32.

Recorded talks were heard by Prof. William Young of the English department at the university and Dr. Otto Mees, president of the university.

Two school songs were sung and contests in charge of Rev. Winterhoff were enjoyed.

Officers were elected for the ensuing year. Dr. G. J. Troutman was named president; Harold Hines of Walnut-twp., vice president; Miss Mabel Kinnison, Jackson-twp., secretary; and Harold Costlow, Atlanta, treasurer.

Can Halt Stuttering By Having Stutterer Continue Stuttering

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Science has discovered that stuttering can be cured by inducing the patient to stutter.

This method has proved the basis of a definite cure in 60 per cent of his cases, Dr. Bryng Bryngelson, University of Minnesota speech clinic director, told the American society for the study of speech disorders.

The secret, he said, lies in the fact that the stutterer is placed on the offensive rather than on the defensive.

LEGIONNAIRES AT FAYETTE MEETING

Fifteen members of the Howard Hall post American Legion attended a meeting in Washington C. H. Thursday evening at which time John M. Brockie, M. Sterling publisher and a War veteran, discussed the bonus question and the best means to follow in presenting the question to congress.

A meeting is planned here at a later date with Brockie to be sought as the speaker.

WAGNER OUTLINES NEW DEAL GOALS

Senator Robert Wagner, above, of New York, outlines as New Deal goals, to be attained through permanent legislation: Regulation of minimum wages, shorter working hours, elimination of the sweat shop and of child labor, together with protection of honest business and of the rights alike of employers and employees; likewise, old age pensions, withdrawing aged from jobs; wiping out unfair competition, making natural resources available to everyone; broader distribution of earnings so that purchasing power would rise, thus, in filling wants of the population, plants would be busy and every man would have a job.

Attack on Nazi Chief Reported

PARIS, Dec. 28.—A Basel dispatch to the newspaper La Liberté today reported an attack upon Reich leader Adolf Hitler in which a Coblentz government official was wounded.

Citing the reported attack as the reason for recent widespread arrests in Berlin, the dispatch said:

Hitler was attacked in the gardens of the chancellery in Berlin.

(Editor's note: The Basel report of an attack upon Hitler apparently is a new version of the recent baseless rumors that the German chancellor had been attacked in an attempt upon his life. These rumors immediately were denied in Berlin.)

SECOND FRIGID SPELL ON WAY

Freahish Weather on East and West Coast May Fore-stall Cold.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—While moderate temperatures prevailed in the middle west today in the wake of a sub-zero cold wave weather forecasters warned of another frigid spell advancing from the Canadian northwest.

Snow was a possibility in the upper central states, Forecaster C. A. Donnel announced.

From an official low of one degree below zero here early yesterday the mercury staged a rapid climb to 31 above.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Rain and snow continued to blanket northern California today definitely breaking the cold snap of the Christmas holidays when the mercury dropped to 4. In the San Francisco bay region.

In the high Sierra, twelve inches of fresh snow was on the summit at Soda Springs.

Portland, Ore., witnessed the first snowfall of the year.

Blizzards raged in southern Oregon, halting plane schedules.

Mt. Hamilton, near San Jose, reported a two inch snow fall.

HANNAN FINED $50

Kelly Hannan, N. Court-st. automobile dealer, has arranged to pay a fine of $50 and costs after a plea of guilty before Squire H. O. Eveland, Thursday, to removing the manufacturer's number from an automobile.

Hannan did not appear personally before Eveland but was represented by E. L. Crist, his attorney.

Charges were preferred against the dealer by Hildeburn Jones, James Stout and Ralph Leach, automobile dealers.

YOUTHS GAIN $40 IN CRITES STATION THEFT

Hold Up, Rob Gorman Davis, Attendant, at 1:30 a. m. Friday

REVOLVER IS USED

Described As 25 and 21 Years of Age

The new N. Court-st. station of the Crites Oil Co. was held up and robbed by two young outlaws at 1:30 a. m. Friday of $40 in change and bills. The robbers escaped in an automobile.

Gorman Davis, night operator, was on duty when the two men walked into the station. One asked for some tire patches and when Davis reached for the accessories the other ordered him to hold up his hands.

They took Davis' change carrier containing several dollars in silver and took all other money they could find. Ordering the attendant to keep his hands up until they got in their car, they fled.

ROBBERY BROADCAST

Police were notified and a report of the hold up and descriptions of the bandits were put on the radio of the state highway patrol, but to no avail.

Davis said he did not see the automobile the pair drove, nor did he know in which direction it left the scene. The car was believed parked back of the fence which surrounds the station.

The attendant described the pair as follows:

No. 1. Five feet seven inches tall, weight 145 pounds, age about 25. He was slender, wore a brown felt hat and a brown overcoat. He had a small mustache.

No. 2. Same height, about five pounds lighter and four years younger than No. 1. He was described as being slender, wearing a light cap and zipper jacket.

FIRST IN OVER MONTH

The robbery was the first attempted filling station robbery since the night Governor-elect Martin L. Davey spoke here prior to the election when Mrs. Marion Manson, Lancaster, wife of a railroad robber from the station operated by herself and her husband.

Edgar Lee Turner, 18, colored, was bound to the grand jury Friday by Mayor W. B. Cady for breaking and entering the Pick-away Livestock building and stealing cigars and candy on Dec. 3. Turner was held under $600 bond.

Two other youths arrested with him were Hughie Montgomery, 17, and Charles Smith, 15, the latter being a ward of Fairfield-co juvenile court.

All three confessed, police said. The arrests were made by Officer William McCready.

BAKER HELD FOR HOCKING-CO JURY

Clarence Baker, arrested this week by Deputy Sheriff Bob Armstrong, was held for grand jury action in Hocking-co courts under $1,000 bond when he pleaded not guilty Wednesday to burglarizing the Pleupark store, South Bloomington, Dec. 8.

Baker is charged with stealing considerable merchandise including some government property stored there for redistribution.

The jailed man gained entrance through a window which he replaced after committing the robbery.

KIWANIANS HEAR ROWLAND; INDUCT 5 NEW MEMBERS

A splendid talk on soy bean production with a number of interesting angles concerning operation of his plant was made before the Kiwanis club Thursday evening by Ray Rowland, manager of the Ralston Purina Milling Co. The meeting was at Hanley's tearoom.

Mr. Rowland's talk climaxed one of the best meetings the Kiwanis club has had in a long time.

Five new members were inducted and another, Elmer E. Clifton, was unable to be there because of illness. The new members are Joe Burns, Ben Gordon, George P. Bach, Dwight Steele and C. Edward Wright.

Several visitors including Fred White of Columbus; Alvin Jones, of Chillicothe; and O. G. Henry, of Delaware, attended the meeting.

A turkey dinner preceded the business meeting.

NEW DEAL HIT BY SCIENTISTS IN ADDRESSES

Trend More Toward Fascism Than Communism, Ohio State Man Says.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—New Deal policies, assailed both by an eminent sociologist and a political scientist as "illogical and inconsistent," today were the subjects of further study of sessions of the American Political Science Association.

BALANCE BUDGET
The American Economic society meanwhile heard a warning by Prof. J. W. Angell of Columbia university that there can be no substantial business recovery in the United States until the government balances the federal budget and promised restoration of a stabilized gold standard currency.

There is a more pronounced tendency toward Fascism in America than toward Communism, said Prof. Shepard. The speaker advocated progressive centralization of government with the desirability of Fascism. As an unwanted phase of Fascism, the educator cited "the case of Louisiana where the people have surrendered themselves completely to a political adventure."

"The program of the New Deal," Prof. Shepard said, "is a mass of undigested and contradictory experiments, its ideology is illogical, turbid and inconsistent. It veers first to the right, then to the left. It embodies in its personnel men of the most divergent views."

While the New Deal receives unprecedented majorities at the polls, Prof. Shepard said its support is not all enthusiastic and there is much criticism.

"If there is any leadership in the New Deal it is the leadership of mounting one's horse and dashing off in every direction at once."

OHIO COMMISSION TO RESIGN TODAY

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—The state office building commission, formed more than five years ago, completed its business Thursday and was expected to hand its resignation to Gov. George White today.

A sum of $37,768 will be returned by the commission, unused. The task was completed under the estimated cost despite the blast at the building. Members of the commission are Col. Carmi Thompson, Cleveland; William F. Wiley, Cincinnati; William Green, Coshocton; and Elmer E. Landes, Wooster.

FIRE HITS STORE

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—The loss of stock at Bullock's women's apparel store, 112 S. High-st., is expected to run into several thousand dollars as the result of a three-alarm fire Thursday night. The flames apparently originated in the office in the rear of the store.

Two light-weight garments, such as a sweater and a coat, are warmer than one heavy coat. The air space between the two layers of garments prevent the body heat from passing through so quickly.

Questions and Answers

How should a fowl be carved? What are the things to remember in order to carve neatly?

The fowl should be placed with its back on the platter and with its neck to the carver's left. Insert the fork at the breast bone and hold firmly. Then cut through the skin separating the leg from the body. Pull back the leg with the knife and disjoint from the body. Lay the leg on the platter and separate the "drumstick" from the thigh. To cut off wing, cut down from the top to the joint that attaches it to the body, then insert the knife and cut through the joint.

Carve the breast meat in thin slices. To remove the dressing, make an opening below the breast bone. Serve a portion of the dark and the light meat to each person.

How can a little pig be prepared for roasting?

Suckling pig, no older than 6 weeks, may be roasted whole. Scald by plunging the animal in water just below the boiling point. Hold it in the water for about 1 minute. Remove, scrape off all hair with a dull knife, taking care not to cut the tender skin.

Begin at the bottom of the throat and cut a slit to the hind legs. It may be necessary to cut a little to each side, of the first slit at the throat, in order to avoid breaking the skin, at the sides or back. Remove all organs. Wash animal in cold water and chill. Stuff with any preferred stuffing. Roast in a modern oven, 3 to 3 1/2 hours. If the skin is not crisp enough, or taste, it may be rubbed with butter and returned to the oven for a few minutes. Place in the pig's mouth a red apple, an orange, or a baked sweet potato.

I please tell me how to clean some old silver which I have. Silver polish does not seem to remove the dirt from it.

Because of the metals of which it is made, pewter is naturally soft and easily scratched. Whiting and oil, rottenstone and oil, or very fine steel wool and oil may be used with safety. Pewter is composed of tin and lead, and possibly some copper and bismuth.

How would you advise me to re-heat steamed puddings?

If your pudding is a large one, place it back into the original mold in which it was first steamed, and steam it again. It will take nearly an hour to have it heated thoroughly. Smaller puddings may be placed in the top of a double boiler and heated over hot water, or placed in a collander and steamed quickly in serving sized pieces.

Orange Cream Sherbet

1/2 C. sugar Grated orange rind
1/2 C. orange juice 1 tsp. gelatin
2 Tbsp. corn syrup 2 Tbsp. water
Few grains salt 1/2 C. milk
1/2 C. cream beaten until stiff

Mix orange rind, orange juice, sugar, corn syrup and salt. Add gelatin, which has been soaked and dissolved in water. Then add milk. Chill until thick. Add cream beaten stiff, and freeze until firm.

SALES TAX AIRED

This is another of a series of clarifying articles on Ohio's new retail sales tax.

Q. In some other states the merchants absorb the sales tax themselves. Will this be done in Ohio?

A. No. It is expressly forbidden by law. This is a consumer's, not a merchant's tax.

Q. What would happen if the merchant absorbed it anyway?

A. He would render himself liable to a fine of $25 to $100 for the first offense. For each subsequent offense, he could be fined a like amount and be sent to the county jail for not more than 60 days. In case of a corporation, the penalty for a second offense is a fine of $100 to $500.

Q. Must all retail merchants be licensed to collect the sales tax when it becomes effective?

A. Yes. The penalty for selling at retail without such license is fixed in the sales tax Act as a misdemeanor, carrying a fine of $25 to $100.

Q. How soon after issuance of his vendor's license must a merchant purchase a supply of pre-paid sales tax receipts?

A. Within five days.

PATTERN 9222

If you are looking for a colorful frock to wear beneath your winter coat—here is the very design for you! It would be charming in turquoise blue pebbly crepe—or in any bright monotone for that matter—with jeweled clips at the shoulder to add an air of luxury to its softly draped neckline. The bodice is prettily molded, and buttons straight up the back, according to the latest whim of fashion. The slim skirt boasts a nice front panel which breaks into pleats above the hem—and the smooth raglan sleeves may be made in the fashionable three-quarter length or, if you prefer, short, as in the smaller sketch.

Pattern 9222 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

Do not miss our WINTER PATTERN BOOK of smart, easy-to-make clothes designed by our style authority, MARIAN MARTIN. Styles for every age and all occasions. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

THE TRAFFIC PROBLEM

TRAFFIC regulations and persistent abuses of parking privileges are topics of considerable comment in Circleville, and are matters of much interest and concern to every resident. Throughout the business section, particularly West Main-st., the privilege of double parking has become a menace to life and property. Officials have tolerated the practice in the hope that it would not be abused, but it has reached a point now where it should be curbed to a great extent.

Pleasure cars and commercial vehicles may be seen at almost any hour of the day or early evening parked on both sides of the street immediately behind cars parked at the curb, the drivers of which may be on a shopping tour or unloading freight consigned to one of the mercantile establishments. In many instances traffic is reduced to one lane for long periods of time, and drivers of cars parked at the curb are compelled to await the pleasure of the owners of the illegally-parked vehicles before they can move their cars.

This is a condition that should not be tolerated. It is a dangerous practice, absolutely unnecessary, and decidedly unfair to the motoring public. Through traffic should not be held up on the main streets of the city while the residents do their shopping, and the flow of local traffic should not be interrupted or impeded by those who violate the ordinary rules of common sense.

In addition to being an unnecessary traffic hazard, it would be disastrous in case of fire. The first few moments at a fire, in the opinion of fire-fighters, mean a great deal in saving property from destruction, and any unnecessary delay due to congested traffic may mean permitting a big fire to grow out of a little one, resulting in serious loss to property owners.

Motorists should need only a word of caution from traffic officials to realize the seriousness of the offense. They should be able to see that the practice is not fair to those who are abiding by proper traffic regulations, and unfair to the motoring public in general.

If a word of caution is insufficient, then a summons to police court and a substantial fine would certainly break up the practice. The city has traffic ordinances that should be enforced as a measure of safety and protection to the general public.

THE "PLENTEOUS" YEARS

FOR many years to come, no doubt, Americans whose memories are filled with the glowing picture of the Florida boom, the stock market boom and the real estate boom at home will look back upon the 1928-29 era as the brightest of our economic history.

What we now regard as the height of prosperity, however, was, in the opinion of studious economists, nothing more than a tragically ill-balanced financial situation. Dr. Mordecai Ezekiel, writing in the New York Times, shows us what a mockery was the vaunted affluence of those halcyon days.

It is true that the country was overrun with millionaires in those days, most of them as new as a dime fresh from the mint. But, according to Dr. Ezekiel, of the 22,000,000 city families in that year, 7,500,000 were on a "bare subsistence basis," with an income under $1,500. Another group of approximately that number was on "a minimum comfort level," having an average income of from $1,500 to $2,500.

These figures account for two-thirds of the population of the United States and they mean, when translated into unpleasant realities, that more than 7,000,000 families were engaged in a hard struggle for survival and that another 7,000,000 maintained decent standards of living only through strict economy.

Actual wealth and even comfortable circumstances were confined to less than a third of our population. What is to be said in behalf of our legendary standards of living and the storied prosperity of 1928-29 when when a share in our riches is confined to a relatively few?

It's getting so that people who refuse to learn bridge are considered as anti-social.

Of course, in Methuselah's day there wasn't a car in every garage, which helps to explain the prevalent longevity.

Little Sister

By MARGARET WIDEMER

READ THIS FIRST:

Leila Madison is reading a letter from her younger sister, Bet, who is inclined to be reckless. The orphaned Madison girls live with their Aunt Maude, member of the oldest family in Fernwood Manor.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 2

"OH, LORD, say it isn't so, lady," Leila murmured to Jane. But the letter went on saying just what it had.

"Dear Leila—" (said the letter in a spiky handwriting upon the horribly expensive paper Bet had bought last time she needed her teeth done.)

"Jumping off the deep end at 19, old girl. Off out into the great, exciting world, with my man! And am I having a thrill? I've tried everything and seen everything as far as cash and your and Aunt Minnie's narrow ideas permitted. I will say, for my years. Now the great last thing! He hasn't been spoiled by the narrow class-education of college and snobbish prep schools; he has been the school of life. You know how the ordinary damn-fool men of our own dull caste have bored me."

Leila knew all about that. Bet's dramatic gestures, or it may have been her passion for talking about herself, or her determined untidiness, scared off the boys of her own age thoroughly, terrified of the queer and unusual as they naturally were. It was Aunt Minnie's chief worry that Bet wasn't attractive to gentle men. And Bet simply had to be amused, had to be making a sensation. But up to now, or up to the last few months, rather, this particular problem hadn't come up. Every thing else had, goodness knew!

She went back to the deciphering of the picket fence hand. "You know I made up my mind some time since that the only type worth considering was the splendid one that does the real work of the world. The artisan, the mechanic. The decent, unspoiled, sound, fine man who works with his hands..."

Now where was that come from? Even in her worry over the immediate problem Leila took time to recall that Bet never got anything up for herself. Leila could always track it back to something or other Bet had read, or some picture. Oh, yes. That story Bet had read about a man who was a carpenter, something about a dazzlingly beautiful and fascinating society girl who found that all the men and girls she had been brought up with cheated at cards and embezzled, and made a magnificent policeman (who didn't seem to like her at all) marry her practically at the pistol's point with the blessing and gratitude of her weeping millionaire father. And hadn't there been an article, also, cut out of a tabloid and lying around on tables till it went into the wastebasket. "Why, Bet, marry that boy!" There had, by a dabbler who had done it herself or hoped to.

So that was why Bet had been making so many errands to the gas station lately. The tall young Pole who was rather good-looking if you didn't mind a plump forehead and a habit of yawning when you tipped him. Good heavens, could it be he? Or by any chance the Italian shoemaker who had recently taken the little shop between the stationer's and the drug store in the village? He was, though rather plump, quite incredibly handsome, like a Barchese out of a Rubens painting. He also had a florid and assured way of paying compliments to everybody who made shoes shine there, which had made Leila decide to go with unpolished brogues rather than go near him again. Oh, dear! Well, it wasn't either of them, or Bet wouldn't be taking off from the studio she shared with Edna Perry.

Leila forced herself to go on.

She read on, frowning over the illegible hand. Was the word caserole or carpenter? It must be a carpenter, you couldn't very well marry a caserole.

The man with whom I am achieving the great adventure is a carpenter. Well, Aunt Minnie would have a fit and Fernwood Manor, that most exclusive and social suburb, would be shocked, but after a while the man would be firm with her it wouldn't be bad a bit. Carpenters always were nice, and electricians. Much as Leila loved her sister, at that moment she was nearly ready to make a present of her to any firm carpenter.

"We're getting married," said—that is, in a way. Leila stood up straight. Then she forced herself to go on.

"Think of us at two o'clock—adventure, excitement, love-out in the great world together! Goodbye, Leila. I wish you all the happiness in the old narrow life. Break the news to Auntie and the dogs. Love always—BET."

Leila rose and dropped Jane. This wasn't humorous or even annoying. This was terrible. "My heaven, was I that much of a fool at 12?" she demanded of her dog in a voice which sent it down on a wriggling belly in remorse for a supposed crime.

Leila had never been that much of a fool. She had never, at the appropriate moments for it, had time. She had always, instead, been occupied being a protective older sister to a junior who had gone jazz-age with the greater abandon because she unfortunately wasn't interesting to men. And she was still jazz-aging, still being temperamental and thrilling in spite of the fact that her contemporaries were either going earnest or saying in low tragic tones, "They taught us too much. Now we merely drift!" As a matter of fact Bet would, Leila believed, never cease to thrill and have temperamental. Whether it was fashionable or not, Bet would be wild, scornful, and thrill-hunting at 60, and Leila at 63 would be dragging her out of the messes her search brought down on her.

Leila remembered the high spots of the preceding messes all too well. The 13-year-old crash on the milk-weld. The 19-year-old boy. The time when Bet read the article about girl high-binders and became one immediately at 14, as far as Schenectady, which she was retrieved by a terrified 12-year-old Leila and a heart-aching Aunt. The train for Hollywood last night, at the moment when the movies were at the financial bottom. This time she telegraphed (charges reversed) for fare home after a footsore fortnight.

A passion, in short, for adventure which had been admirable if it had been balanced by sense and bravery, but which, Bet being as she was, had turned Leila overwatchful, and Aunt Minnie nearly into a nervous wreck. This last business of being a student with another girl who was a miniature painter, and giving depression parties, had seemed the safest outlet for years. And now!

AT LAST!

When first the bride and bridegroom wed,
They love their single selves the best;

A sword is in the marriage bed,
Their separate slumbers are not rest.

They quarrel, and make up again,
They give and suffer worlds of pain.

Both right and wrong,
They struggle long,
Till some good day, when they are old,

Some dark day, when the bells are tolled,
Death having taken their best of life,
They lose themselves, and find each other;
They know that they are husband and wife.

For, sleeping, they are Father, Mother!—

Future for Young Diabetic
Good if Rules Are Followed

Most of Those Afflicted Are Bright and Overcome Handicap Very Quickly

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

PARENTS ARE decidedly upset when told their child is afflicted with diabetes. But today, fortunately, the outlook for a child suffering from diabetes is much more favorable than it was in former years. This can be attributed to our increased knowledge of diabetes and the discovery of insulin.

Many children suffer from diabetes. Few of them succumb because of the improved methods of treatment.

A diabetic child who adheres to a strict diet and carefully follows instructions, will develop equally as well, both physically and mentally, as a child without this handicap.

Most diabetic children are bright and learn quickly. This is fortunate because the problems confronting a child with this disease are more difficult than those of the normal child.

The diabetic child is usually taller and heavier than the average boy or girl. Because of the apparently favorable state of health, months or even years may pass before the parents become aware that the child is diabetic.

As a rule the diabetic drinks an unusual amount of water and visits the bathroom frequently. These children have excellent appetites but fail to gain weight.

An excessive accumulation of sugar in the blood soon leads to irritability, nervousness and a susceptibility to infections and the common diseases of childhood. Continued neglect may lead to coma, cataract formation, swelling of the arteries and practically all the complications of diabetes encountered in the adult. When the disease is recognized and the necessary treatment given, these annoying complaints, unless too far advanced, promptly disappear.

Sometimes the presence of sugar in the urine is the direct result of having an excess of sugar and fats in the diet. In such cases a carefully prescribed diet may be sufficient to overcome the disturbance and completely rid the urine of sugar.

Not all cases respond to diet alone. In many instances it is necessary that the child receive injections of insulin. The first few treatments are given under the supervision of a physician, but after that the parent may be permitted to inject the insulin.

Indeed, many young children have been taught to do this themselves. It is generally considered, but not definitely proved, that heredity is an important influence in diabetes.

A recent study of statistics shows that when two diabetics marry, diabetes often develops in the offspring. For this reason it is imperative that signs of this disease in their children require health examinations and routine analysis will help detect this disorder. It must never be overlooked or neglected.

A child who shows signs of undernourishment, repeated loss of weight and lack of development, should be taken to a physician for a thorough physical examination. No examination is complete unless the urine is examined for sugar and other abnormalities. In doubtful cases a test should be made of the blood.

Questions and Answers

What temperature range is considered to be a "moderate" oven? Many of my recipes say "bake in a moderate oven."

A moderate oven is usually considered to be 350 degrees, but from 325 to 375 might be termed the interval described as moderate.

Can you suggest some uses for frozen whipped cream? I have an automatic refrigerator and enjoy using frozen desserts, but the chilled foods are not so popular when it is so cold outdoors.

One of the most fancy ways to use frozen whipped cream is to serve it very much like it were a hard sauce—on hot desserts. Apple pie, peach cobbler, steamed puddings, fruit pies, plum puddings and rich winter puddings are made more tasty with a small portion of frozen whipped cream, or mousse, for a topping. A garnish for hot chocolate or for home-made sundaes is particularly nice, if the garnish is frozen whipped cream.

What is a plank and how should it be used?

A cooking plank is a heavy oak board, usually 1 1/2 or 2 inches thick, used for broiling steaks and chops. A plank is a great delicacy. The steak may be broiled on the plank or in the broiler until done, or it may be started on the broiler pan and finished on the wooden plank. When the steak has finished broiling, the plank is decorated with cooked vegetable arranged around it and with mashed potatoes forced through a pastry tube. The mashed potatoes may be formed into cups, filled with creamed or buttered peas.

How can I prevent French dressing that I make from separating?

French dressing is made with large quantity of oil which will not thoroughly mix with the vinegar and seasonings, thus between time of serving the dressing may separate. A good suggestion is to keep the dressing in a screw-top jar and give it a thorough shaking each time before using.

What raw vegetables can be used in a molded vegetable salad?

Raw vegetables for molded salads might include some of the following: diced carrots, chopped cabbage, chopped celery, chopped pepper, radishes or cucumbers in season. For garnishes, hard cooked egg, tomato wedges, parsley or chives balls are suitable and may be used.

Flour to make a soft dough

Allow sugar to dissolve completely in sour cream. Add salt, baking soda, and flour enough to make a soft cookie dough. Use a cool mold to press the cookies. Greased paper on a flat tray. Small amount of water or flour may be added to the dough as required to make it soft enough to press easily and yet stiff enough to hold its shape. A variation of a single batch would be to add tablespoons of melted chocolate to one portion of the dough, and so on to another portion. Bake cookies for 10 minutes at 450 degrees. Preheat the oven before putting the cookies in, so they will not lose their shape.

Schmidt Stands High in Past Year

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—A bigger and better sports parade for Ohio in 1935 was promised today as the outstanding athletic events in 1934 were reviewed in a statewide survey by International News Service.

Crystal gazers into the future professed to see a new minor league baseball loop for the state; a new national professional football league; the possibility of high schools going in for boxing in a big way; expansion of the Buckeye conference in collegiate sports; and (fifthly but not least) a Big Ten football crown for Ohio State University.

Probably the greatest, single athletic event in the state during the year ending Monday was the point of attendance and that elusive mirage called color was the Ohio State-Michigan football game (attendance 68,000).

SCHMIDT IN FRONT

And because his was the guiding genius behind Ohio State's nearly excellent performance on the gridiron, Francis Schmidt, head football coach at the school and a new-comer to the Ohio sports world, probably was the most outstanding figure to emerge from the 1934 pileup.

Other highlights of the '34 sports review follow:

Winning of the American Association pennant and the little world series by the Columbus Red Birds for the second consecutive year, winning of the middle-Atlantic league pennant by the Zanesville Greys, the change of controlling interest and managers of the Cincinnati Reds in the national league; the Canton-McKinnley high school football game (attendance 20,000); winning of the Class B basketball champion of high school by the then nascent Superior team and annexation of the Class A title by Dayton Road-volt, (attendance in the three days 17,000).

Sports promoters and figures were optimistic to the nth degree over 1935 prospects. Some of their remarks follow:

George Daniels, commissioner of the Ohio conference, "I'm very optimistic over 1935 as football is growing in popularity and gate receipts promise to be much better."

Joe Carr, football and baseball promoter, "The outlook for national professional football is great. It's splendid. The same is true for minor league baseball. Did you know that Ohio was the greatest state in the union for minor league baseball?"

Al Hart, wrestling promoter, "We'll have a boom year. The entrance of college boys into the ranks of professional wrestlers and the fact that promoters themselves have cleaned up the sport helped more than anything."

LONDON TEAM WILL PROVIDE TIGERS SCRAP

Preliminary Starts at 7:30 In C. A. C. Gymnasium; Varsity At 8:30.

The time: 7:30 p. m.
The scene: C. A. C. gymnasium.
The teams: High school reserves vs. Emory club in the preliminary and the high school varsity vs. London in the final game starting about 8:30.

The Referee: Ervin Carlisle, of Ohio Wesleyan.
The outcome: Doubtful.
The lineups:

CIRCLEVILLE

Henry ..... F
Grant ..... C
Speakman ..... G
Jenkins ..... G

LONDON
Alexander ..... F
Robinson ..... F

Holloway ..... G
Peterson ..... G

LINEUP IS GUESS
The Tiger lineup is just a guess. The five boys named have started regularly for Coach Pete Herberholz but the three defeats taken in succession might change things. It was reported today that Styers may be placed at a forward berth with Joe Jenkins taking the center spot. Both could turn in good performances.

London will place a fast team on the floor with Coach Von Kane's crew making a good appearance in all games played to date. The Tigers have a good chance to win, though, with all members of the squad in good condition.

The reserve game should draw a large early crowd. The Tiger underlings have won all four games played this year but will be pitted against several former varsity performers as Billy Steele, Bob Fricke and John Porter. They play forward, center and guard, respectively, for Cuz Dumm's Emory aggregation.

Plum, Griffith, Melson, Friley and Andrews will probably form the Tiger reserve first team, these boys clicking together in nice shape.

A good crowd is expected to fill the C. A. C. gymnasium. Saturday evening the Tigers go to Amanda to meet the varsity of that school. The reserves will not play there, taking a vacation.

SPYING ON SPORTS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Writer

The greatest field of thoroughbred racing ever to face a barrier is being prepared for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap Feb. 23 at Arcadia, Cal. If they all go to the post, including Equinox, Twenty Grand, Cavalade, Discovery, Head Play—the result is sure to be historic, not to say tough on the guessers.

Some of the horses themselves, interviewed about the race, might say something like this:

EQUIPOISE—Twenty Grand? Don't talk to me about that horse. Why doesn't he go out and earn himself some money? I've won $334,450 worth of races on all kinds of tracks, and I'll win this one, Twenty Grand or not Twenty Grand.

Twenty Grand was lucky when he beat me in that Kentucky Jockey Club stakes race in 1930 when we were two-year-olds. The judges gave it to him by a nose. He had to do the mile in 1:36, anyway, to win it, and that's the fastest mile a two-year-old ever ran. I was going fastest when we passed the stand. Look it up.

TWENTY GRAND—Sure I have beaten Equipoise and I can do it again. If he had run in the Derby the year he got that split hoof, he'd have taken some more of old Twenty's dust. That was the year I set the Derby record—2:01 4-5. Of course he's a good horse, he had to be to win all that money, but I've beaten him.

HEAD PLAY—I do hope I have a little better break than I got in the Derby. You remember, I was coming down the stretch my jockey was fighting with Broker's Tip's boy? That's why it's down in the records that Bradley's horse beat me. I was the goat. I hope I have a better rider in the handicap. Have you read what some of the experts said after that 1933 Derby, about me being the best horse, but the victim of a bad ride? Let me show you my scrapbook some time.

CAVALCADE—Who are these old horses shooting off their mouths? I won the 1934 Kentucky Derby after giving the whole field a half block head start. Sure, High Quest beat me in the Preakness, but High Quest is my stablemate and pal. That was all arranged, for him to win, so he'd have something on his record, too.

And while we're on the subject of money, I've earned a few dollars here and there myself. Made $111,225 in 1934. Yep, leading winner.

They say these old horses can run pretty well, but they'll have to show me.

VINING-CAMPBELL LEADING BOWLERS
The doubles team of Lou Vining and Charles Campbell continued to lead the bowling on the local runways. Vining and Campbell combined their scores for 1934. The individual scores were Vining, 222, 211, 188 and Campbell, 182, 226, 180.

Lancaster bowlers made an onslaught Thursday evening but failed to dislodge the leaders. Simon and Lunzer rolled 1181 and C. White and Bruner, 1179. A. Elser and Baker of the local alleys rolled 1171.

In class B, M. S. Baker and Bob Campbell hold an 1104 score.

Continental Corporation bowlers tangled Thursday evening with the Papermakers taking two from the Office and Power winning three from the Maintainers.

2 FOXES FALL PREY TO DRIVE

Another Hunt Planned In Pickaway-Twp; Shoot Saturday In Walnut-Twp.

Nearly 400 persons took part in the fox drive in Pickaway-Twp Thursday, the attendance being marred considerably by the frigid air. Two foxes were clubbed to death while four escaped through the lines.

It is planned to hold another drive probably New Year's day but nothing definite has yet been announced.

Thursday's drive was staged under the auspices of the Logan Elm grange and the Pickaway-Twp Parent-Teachers association. The greater part of $26 was cleared to aid the latter organization's relief fund.

BOUGHT BY WOMEN
The foxes were killed by James Mowery and a Wolford boy and both were purchased by Mrs. Cliff Miller and Miss Alva Bartley.

A large number of foxes were seen and some of the drivers said 10 or 12 of the animals which have been playing havoc with small game in Pickaway-Twp might have been caught.

SHOOTING MATCH
A shooting match with prizes to be given will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. on the farm of W. J. Etti, one mile east of the Walnut-Twp school. It was announced to-day.

Clay pigeons will be the targets with a number of residents of the vicinity in charge of the competition.

A number of gunmen from this city are expected to attend.

PROS AFTER JONES

BOSTON Dec. 28.—Reports that professional football was seeking the coaching services of "Biff" Jones, former Louisiana State center, today confirmed with announcement by President George Marshall of the Boston Redskins, that he had offered Jones a contract for "three years or more," at $10,000 annually to pilot his team. The offer also confirmed rumors that Lone Star Dietz had been released as Redskins coach.

Nary's canny move is indicated by the fact Nye's new post formerly was held by Pennsylvania's Old Guard ex-Senator David Reed. This is the first time in the history of the GOP that a liberal has held the chairmanship.

Merry-Go-Round

Tuesday, January 1, at 12 noon is the dead line. At that moment only two days before Congress convenes, final assignments in the House Office Buildings will be made. Just now, the Superintendent is still juggling Congressmen—100 new applicants in one hand—100 old members who want better offices in the other. The new Supreme Court building has a distinction that cannot be claimed by other Government buildings recently completed: It was built without a fatality among the workmen. Most requests for relief elicit pity; sometimes there is an element of humor. One letter recently received at FERA headquarters read, "My father is flat on his back and can't even raise the mortgage". In 1890 President Roosevelt's father purchased stock in the proposed Nicaragua canal. The President says his mother still has in her safe deposit box enough certificates to paper a whole room. Speaking of the glut of cotton and the Bankhead Act, Secretary Wallace remarked the other day: "The bottleneck is at the gin."

RETAILERS MAY OBTAIN LICENSES UNTIL JANUARY 14

PLAN OFFICES IN 16 CITIES

Examiners Are To Operate Through State; Civil Service Lists to Be Used.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—Further indicating that the sales tax will not go into effect before the first of January, possibly the state tax commission today extended to Jan. 14, the time in which retail merchants may obtain vendor's licenses.

It was the second time extension. Under the sales tax law retailers were required to take out licenses not later than Dec. 17, but delay in making available application blanks caused postponement to Dec. 31.

The second extension, Carlton S. Dargusch, the tax commission's sales tax pundit, explained as being necessary because in some counties the auditors are not yet ready to begin licensing merchants.

USE 16 OHIO CITIES
While waiting to confer with Governor White and the other three tax commissioners on sales tax administrative and appointment matters, Dargusch revealed that sales tax branch offices will be opened in 16 Ohio cities.

Primary branches will be situated in Toledo, Dayton, Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Akron and Youngstown; second a r y branches in Hamilton, Portsmouth, Norwalk, Mansfield, Athens, Zanesville, Steubenville, Ashtabula and Lima.

Out of these 16 sub-divisions 100 to 125 sales tax examiners will operate. They will audit the accounts of county treasurers and their agents who dispense prepaid tax receipts, and those of retail establishments.

Dargusch's latest estimate of the sales tax division personnel is 250, there being about 27 executives, including branch managers and supervisors, the examiners and 100 or more clerks. Appointments to these positions will be made soon.

These appointments and others previously made provided one main reason for the governor's conference with the two Democratic and two Republican tax commissioners.

Led by Chairman Quincy A. Davis, the Democrats are complaining that the Republicans are walking off with the major sales tax appointment plums, not overlooking the fact that R. P. Bartholomew, a Republican, was named head of the new division.

"As far as I am concerned," said Dargusch, "selections will continue to be made purely on a basis of qualification."

ON CIVIL SERVICE
Sales tax division clerks, he said, must be selected from available civil service lists for such positions, but provisional appointments of branch managers, supervisors and examiners will be made as there is no civil service waiting list in these classes. Later the provisional appointees will be required to take a civil service examination.

Although admitting he had attended Mrs. Loretta Devine Wilson, 19-year-old bride, inset, Dr. John Becker, Jr., of Bay Shore, L. I., vigorously denied having performed the illegal operation upon Mrs. Wilson which caused her death. The girl's nude body was found off a roadway near Port Jefferson, L. I.

MOVE TO HINDER FARLEY PLANNED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—A bill which would make a "career service" out of the postoffice department and automatically bar Postmaster General James A. Farley from chairmanship of the Democratic national committee was completed today by Senator Vandenberg (R) of Michigan.

Every job in the far flung postal service would be put under civil service excepting that of the Postmaster General. The President would appoint him but he could not engage in political activities while in office.

'DOGNAPPING' AGAIN SEEN IN COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—"Dognapping" went professional here today when the abductors of a $300 Great Dane dog telephoned its owners and offered to return the animal "for a reward."

The dog was owned by Mr. and Mrs. George E. Miller, who reside along the outskirts of the Scioto Country club.

Shortly after the dog was stolen, an anonymous telephone call was received at the Miller home advising of the "dognapping." Later another telephone call was received and an unidentified voice informed Mrs. Miller that "I know where your dog is... are you willing to give a reward for getting it back?"

CHILD MISSING, FATHER HUNTED

MUSKOGON, Dec. 28.—Police today are searching for Alonzo Stadefeld of Chicago, in connection with the disappearance yesterday afternoon of Warren Morris, three-year-old, reported "kidnaped" from in front of his home.

Mrs. Lucy Morin, a maid in a house across the street from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morris, said the boy was snatched up from the street by a man in an automobile, while he was playing with his sled in the snow.

Morris and his wife, Ellen, admitted to state police that the child is the son of Stadefeld, from whom Mrs. Morris obtained a divorce when the child was three months old.

Mrs. Morris' description of the "kidnaped" tallies in many respects with the description of Stadefeld, state police said.

Court News

CONSTRUCTION ASKED

Dudley Kimmel, of Columbus, has filed an action in common pleas court for construction of a trust set up under the will of the late Mary Kimmel. Others interested in the trust of $3,000 are Mary Kimmel Palm, Columbus, and Katherine H. Wright, Harrison-Twp.

Upon construction it is asked that the trust be ended.

ASKS FOR ALIMONY

Helen C. Mosier, through her father Baxter Anderson, has filed action in common pleas court for alimony and other relief from Lawrence O. Mosier.

Production adjustment contracts signed early in 1934 by burley tobacco growers will be effective for the 1935 crop. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced last week, exercising a privilege granted by the burley producers.

VANDALS HUNTED IN TRAIN WRECK

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—Railroad, city and county police today sought the daring daylight vandals who maliciously threw open and locked a switch in a railroad yards on the outskirts of Columbus, sending three Pennsylvania railroad employees to their deaths and injuring 13 passengers shortly before noon yesterday.

Vandalism was definitely ascribed as the cause of the derailment of the express train at a conference of railroad officials, police, and public utilities commission investigators late yesterday. Detectives determined that the switch was thrown sometime after 9:30 a. m., when a southbound passenger train passed the siding. After locking the switch open, the vandals wrenched loose a small semaphore from atop the switch signal and threw it into a ditch.

WOMAN, 86, TAKEN

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1935

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 is the biggest and roomiest Ford car ever built. It is a strikingly handsome car, with modern lines and new, luxurious appointments.

But most important of all it is designed to give you smooth, easy riding over all kinds of roads—"a front-seat ride for back-seat riders."

This ease of riding is achieved by the use of three basic principles never before combined in a low-price car.

1. Correct distribution of car weight by moving engine and body forward eight and a half inches.
2. New location of seats, with rear seat moved forward, toward the center of the car—away from the rear axle and away from the bumps.
3. New spring suspension which permits the use of longer, more flexible springs and increases the spring-base to 123 inches.

The result is Center-Poise—which not only gives you a new riding comfort but adds to the stability of the car and its ease of handling. You can take curves with greater safety.

There are many new features in the Ford V-8 for 1935 which make the car still easier to drive.

INTRODUCED TOMORROW

A New Ford V-8 That Brings New Beauty, New Safety, and a New Kind of Riding Comfort Within Reach of Millions of People

New brakes give more power for stopping quickly with far less foot pressure on the pedal. A new easy-pressure clutch employs centrifugal force to increase efficiency at higher speeds. New steering mechanism makes the car still easier to handle.

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 retains the V-8 engine which has demonstrated its dependability and economy in the service of more than a million owners. There are refinements—including crankcase ventilation, cast alloy steel crankshaft and copper-lead floating connecting-rod bearings—but no change in basic design. You buy premium performance when you buy this Ford V-8—full 85 horsepower and capable of 80 miles an hour.

Other 1935 Ford features are Safety Glass throughout in all body types at no extra cost. New welded all-steel bodies. New wider rear doors. (Front doors hinged forward.) New lower double-channel X-type frame. (Makes it easier to get in and out of the car.)

Rich, modern body colors, including a new gun-metal finish of striking beauty on De Luxe body types. Luxurious new upholstery and appointments.

New, wider pillowed seats and softer seat cushions. (Front seats are 4 to 5 1/2 inches wider.) Clear-Vision Ventilation, with adjustable cow ventilator and a windshield that opens. Combination fuel and oil gage and heat indicator on new.

modern instrument board of the De Luxe body types.

The spring leaves are tapered for quiet as well as flexibility. Larger tires have a new, wider tread, specially designed for safety and comfort. Bodies are insulated for quiet and temperature.

We invite you to see this New Ford V-8 at the showrooms of Ford dealers. You will want to ride in it—to drive it yourself. You will find it a new experience in motoring.
